

Supporting Children Who Are Struggling

with
Dr. Nora McNamara

April 14th, 2018
From 9:00 am - 4:00 pm

Children make good choices when they are able to do so. This is the key to understanding how to support children in a way that is collaborative and proactive, and invites the child to participate in finding a solution.

Join us as Dr. Nora McNamara helps us to understand how to support children using Dr. Ross Greene's Plan B, a trauma-informed, non-adversarial model of problem solving in a collaborative way, helping the child to identify the skills necessary for success and how those skills might be applied.

This workshop is suitable for anyone who is working with children in any capacity. This approach is not only consistent with Montessori pedagogy, but with a focus on meeting the needs of the child, it is sure to offer tools of support that enhance the community of any school.
